Introduction

Most of the information presented in this report is derived from two sources: the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) publication “Highway Statistics, 2013,” and an e-mail survey of SLC states' Departments of Transportation, conducted in May and June, 2015. Information regarding bridge conditions comes from the annual report compiled by Better Roads magazine, and information regarding federal transit appropriations comes from the Federal Transit Administration.

Because of reporting schedules involved in producing the FHWA report, the information in this report, unless otherwise noted, covers the year 2013.

Summary

General Demographics

- The 15 states of the Southern Legislative Conference (SLC)
  - ◆ Are home to 37.1% of the nation's population,
  - ◆ Account for 36.9% of the nation's licensed drivers,
  - ◆ Account for 36.6% of the nation's young licensed drivers (19 and under),
  - ◆ Account for 37.2% of the nation's registered motor vehicles, and
  - ◆ Account for 40.9% of the nation's vehicle miles traveled.
- SLC states have a slightly higher rate of registered vehicles per licensed driver (1.22) than has the entire United States (1.21).
- There are more miles driven annually per licensed driver in SLC states (15,581) than in the nation as a whole (14,085).

Road Mileage

- The 15 states of the SLC account for 40% of the nation's highway miles.
- More highway miles are state maintained in the SLC states (29.4%) than the nation as a whole (19.7%).
- A majority of highway miles are state-maintained in four SLC states (WV, VA, NC, SC).

Transportation Network Companies

- This year's survey asked states about Transportation Network Companies such as Uber and Lyft:
  - ◆ TNCs operate in 13 of 15 SLC states.
  - ◆ Seven SLC states (AR, GA, KY, OK, SC, TN, VA) have adopted state laws governing the operation of TNCs.
  - ◆ Six SLC states (AL, FL, MS, NC, TX, WV) without a statewide TNC law regulate taxis at the local level.
  - ◆ Two SLC states (LA, MO) have state regulatory authority over vehicles for hire, which would presumably cover TNCs.

Survey Question: Status of Transportation Network Companies

Transportation Network Companies are ride sharing services such as Uber and Lyft which use mobile smart phone applications to connect passengers with private vehicle owners willing to provide passenger transportation. This year’s survey of DOTs included the following question:

- Transportation Network Companies (TNCs), such as Uber and Lyft, which link users to individuals willing to provide passenger transportation through a mobile application, have grown in rapidly in coverage area over the past year.
  - a. Does your state have these TNCs operating in your jurisdiction?
  - b. Has your state adopted any statutes or regulations governing the operation of TNCs, TNC vehicles, or TNC drivers?
  - c. If the answer to question b) is no, does your state have statutes or regulations governing the operation of taxicabs and limousines, and if so, are these used to regulate TNCs?

State	Do TNCs Operate?	Specific TNC State Statute?	If Not, Regulation Under Current Taxi Laws?
Alabama	No	No	Taxis are regulated at the local level.
Arkansas	Yes, operating in Little Rock and Fayetteville	Yes, the General Assembly passed regulatory statute in 2015 “Transportation Network Company Services Act” (Act 1050 of 2015)	N/A
Florida	Yes	No, bills were filed in the General Assembly covering both operation and insurance requirements, but none passed.	Regulations exist at the local level
Georgia	Yes, operating in Atlanta and Gainesville	Yes, the Legislature adopted HB 255 in the past session requiring registration with the Department of Public Safety and the purchase of insurance.	N/A

State	Do TNCs Operate?	Specific TNC State Statute?	If Not, Regulation Under Current Taxi Laws?
Kentucky	Yes, operating in Louisville and Lexington	Yes, the General Assembly adopted comprehensive TNC regulation as part of an omnibus revision of the motor carrier statutes in 2015, addressing registration of TNCs, vehicles, and driver's method of operation and insurance requirements. (SB 153)	N/A
Louisiana	Yes	No	Existing statutes drafted apply to vehicles for hire, which would presumably extend to TNCs.
Mississippi	Yes, operating in Jackson, Gulfport/Biloxi, and Oxford	No, a bill to regulate TNCs died in committee during the last session.	Historically, taxi and limo regulation occurs at the municipal level in Mississippi; however, there is some concern that existing municipal regulation is inadequate for TNCs.
Missouri	Yes	No, a bill to regulate TNCs did not pass in the recent session.	Existing statutes give the DOT regulatory authority of limos with a seating capacity of >5, and while taxis are generally regulated at the municipal level, state law does provide for the establishment of regional taxicab authorities.
North Carolina	Yes	No, legislation is under discussion.	No, current state taxi laws do not regulate TNCs.
Oklahoma	Yes	Yes, TNC regulatory language was adopted in the 2015 Session.	N/A

State	Do TNCs Operate?	Specific TNC State Statute?	If Not, Regulation Under Current Taxi Laws?
South Carolina	Yes	Yes	N/A
Tennessee	Yes	Yes, the state adopted TNC regulatory language in the last Session.	N/A
Texas	Yes	No, the state does not have a TNC statute; HB 2440 to regulate TNCs statewide failed in the 2015 Session.	The state does not regulate taxis at the state level; several cities have adopted their own ordinances.
Virginia	Yes	Yes, the state has adopted TNC regulation statutes.	N/A
West Virginia	No	No	The state does have statewide statute regulations of taxis and limousines.

Summary

- Per capita federal highway spending in the SLC states ranges from $233 in West Virginia to $95 in Florida.
- The FY 2013 Federal Apportionment/Payment ratio was at least 1.00 for all but one of the 15 SLC states (TX). The FY 2012 ratio ranges from 2.01 in West Virginia to 0.95 in Texas.
- For FY 2013, the Federal Apportionment/Payment ratio for the entire SLC region was 1.14. The ratio for the entire United States was 1.25.
- Since the inception of the Federal Highway Trust Fund, three SLC states (SC, NC, TX) are “donor states,” having received less in appropriation than the state has raised in federal gas taxes.
- In response to a survey question, most of the Departments of Transportation responding reported a limited use of measures to increase revenue for transportation:
  - ◆ Three states issued bonds: GA ($100 million for bridges, $75 million for transit); MS ($162 million for bridges); and NC ($265 million GARVEE)
  - ◆ Georgia adopted an omnibus transportation funding measure which increased and indexed motor fuel taxes, imposed heavy vehicle impact fees and annual fees on alternative fuel vehicles, and allowed counties to establish transportation local option sales taxes of up to 1% for 5 years.
  - ◆ Texas voters approved a constitutional amendment in November 2014 to transfer a portion of oil and gas tax revenues to the State Highway Fund ($1.74 billion in FY 2015).
- When asked if their state had delayed projects due to uncertainty over the stability of the Federal Highway Trust Fund, three states (AR, GA, TN) responded in the affirmative. Additionally, three other states (LA, MS, MO) report reducing advanced construction and taking a conservative approach to project scheduling.

With the recent economic downturn, states have had to take various measures to deal with shrinking revenues. This year’s survey of the SLC states asked state Departments of Transportation the following question:

Survey Question: Uncertainty of FHTF Revenue Stream

The latest federal highway funding bill, MAP-21, is again subject to a deadline for reauthorization, this time in July 2015. This year’s survey of the SLC states asked state Departments of Transportation the following question:

- The current extension to the federal highway spending program, MAP-21, is set to expire this month. As you are well aware, the Federal Highway Trust Fund is facing a significant structural deficit that has required several general fund appropriations over the past few years. Has your state delayed any construction projects because of the uncertainty over continued federal funding?

State	Response
Alabama	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• No</li> </ul>
Arkansas	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Yes, 70 projects with an estimated value of $282 million have been withdrawn from 2015 bid openings due to lack of federal funding.</li> </ul>
Florida	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• No, Florida prepares a 5-year road plan that is funded with 25% state-revenue sources. If federal reimbursements were suspended, FDOT would make necessary modifications, with the highest priority given to the payment and completion of ongoing projects.</li> </ul>
Georgia	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Yes</li> </ul>
Kentucky	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• No, at this point Kentucky has not delayed any federal construction projects, and does not anticipate slowing or stopping any active construction projects. However federal action is needed to avoid delayed reimbursements from FHWA.</li> </ul>
Louisiana	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• No, Louisiana is currently managing federal-aid transportation projects on a pay-as-you-go basis within existing obligation authority. The state is not relying on multi-year financing of projects and has held the level of advanced construction to a minimum.</li> </ul>
Mississippi	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• No, although the state has not delayed any scheduled project lettings, MDOT has been reducing liabilities by lowering the amount of advanced construction projects. If the FHTF is not fully reinstated soon, lettings could be delayed in the future.</li> </ul>

State	Response
Missouri	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>No, Missouri has maintained a 5-year Statewide Transportation Improvement Program with little construction programming in years 4 and 5, allowing flexibility in achieving all projects within the 5-year span. Missouri is equally concerned about a lack of state funding making it unable to fully match all available federal funds as early as next year.</li> </ul>
North Carolina	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>No, but the state does have contingency plans for decreased funding or a delay in authorization.</li> </ul>

Bridges

Summary

- The information on substandard bridges comes from data from a survey compiled by the publishers of Better Roads magazine. Staff wishes to thank the publishers for the continued help in allowing us to use this information.
- The tables break out bridges by the categories of functionally obsolete and structurally deficient, rather than lumping them both together. The accompanying charts combine both categories as “substandard bridges.” The two terms are defined in the following manner by the Federal Highway Administration:
  - ◆ Structurally Deficient (SD) Status - A highway bridge is classified as structurally deficient if the deck, superstructure, substructure, or culvert is rated in "poor" condition (0 to 4 on the National Bridge Inventory (NBI) rating scale). A bridge can also be classified as structurally deficient if its load-carrying capacity is significantly below current design standards or if a waterway below frequently overtops the bridge during floods.
  - ◆ Functionally Obsolete (FO) Status - Highway bridges classified as functionally obsolete are not structurally deficient, but their design is outdated. They may have lower load-carrying capacity, narrower shoulders or less clearance underneath than bridges built to the current standard.
- In 2014, the SLC Region has a slightly higher percentage of state-maintained bridges that are substandard (18.5%) than the nation as a whole (18.4%).
- The percentage of locally maintained bridges that are substandard is higher in the SLC region (25.1%) than the nation (22.4%).
- This year’s report also outlines the number of fracture critical bridges in the SLC states. A fracture critical bridge is one that does not contain redundant supporting elements. This means that if those key supports fail, the bridge would be in danger of collapse. This does not mean the bridge is inherently unsafe, only that there is a lack of redundancy in its design.
- In 2014, the SLC Region has a lower percentage of bridges that are fracture critical (2.0%) than the nation as a whole (3.1%).
